When a man is about to buy his clothing it is first necessary that he should have confidence in the house he deals with. He should then satisfy himself with regard to the prices after which he has but to exercise his judgment in making his selections. Buyers who visit the Eagle Clothing House of Hays & Metz are never disappointed concerning these important points. Perfectly honest and fair dealing is their inflexible business principle, and their prices are the lowest, and when it comes to a question of taste customers will find their stock amply large to select from. Call in and see George and Henry and you will be benefited.

H. H. & J. VOCKE.

Farmers remember that we will give you thirty-seven pounds of flour to the bushel of good clean wheat. Bring your grists to us.

Not Responsible.
We wish to repeat that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the views held by our correspondents, neither do we want it understood that we endorse views advocated by correspondents just because they are given place in our columns. The columns of the Northwest are always open for the discussion of questions of importance to the public but the editor himself must be the judge of what is proper to print.

Prominent Doctor Dead.

Dr. Q. H. Grasser, of Bryan, well known throughout this part of the state, died at his home on Sunday last. The Dr. was quite an old character, he being master of six different languages—English, German, Hungarian, Latin, Greek and Hebrew. He has an Ornithological collection which embraces thousands of specimens, and has a cabinet of coins, which is probably the largest collection in the country, and for which he had been offered $10,000. Prof. Grasser was born in Hungary in 1822. He located in Bryan in 1862.

New Commissioner.

Mr. Geo. Daum, our new County Commissioner, took his seat on the board on Monday, and takes hold of business with his usual ability. Mr. D. will make a good commissioner, honoring the Democratic party and the people of the county generally. Mr. Connolly, the retiring commissioner, leaves the board with the best wishes of all. He has made an efficient and accommodating official, and during his administration, some of the most permanent improvements in the county have been made. The new board organized by selecting Mr. W. H. Booher President.

PETER JONES.

David Gilson, L. R. Parker, T. G. Tanner, Benj. Champion, P. C. Schwab, R. Redfield, Sam Martin, J. C. Leifer, H. Crossman, G. F. Rothenberger, N. H. Hartman, Henry Gehrett.

How to Keep Warm.

This all absorbing question you can settle by going to Bernstein's One Price Clothing House and getting a good suit of underwear, a good heavy overcoat, a fur cap and a good pair of mitts or gloves. His stock of clothing for men and boys is still as it has always been, the largest and best assorted in town; and he still does the same square, one price business he always did. He sells more good clothing for less money than any other house in town, and that without any sharp practice or deception, such as continually dinging in people's ears about "slaughtering clothing," "going to quit the business," "sacrificing goods," or "almost giving them away." He sells goods at the very lowest possible cash price; and the very lowest selling price in the plain figures, at one price to all. He is the only merchant in Napoleon who sells goods, or ever has sold goods on a strictly one price plan. His first price is his last price, and it is a very low price, and One Price for a smart man or an uninformed man, a rich man or a poor man, a woman or a child. If you like that style go and buy your clothing of

S. BERNSTEIN, One Price Clothier.

C. GREENHART.

Another Two Made One.
On last Thursday evening Mr. Earnest Weaver, on of our rising young farmers, was married to Miss Florence, daughter of our fellow townsman Chas. Gidley. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of a few invited friends and relatives.

Holidays!
As this merry season approaches, everybody wants to find out where they can find the best assortment of goods suitable for the season and occasion. Christmas attractions, warm shawls, elegant cloaks, stylish dress goods for your wives and mothers. Mittens, scarfs, hats, caps, for the husbands, fathers, brothers and beaux. Handkerchiefs, ties, slippers and fancy goods for your sweethearts. Also a large stock of staple dry goods at greatly reduced prices; give us a call.

NORDEN & BRUNS.

Santa Claus' Headquarters.
As usual, Santa Claus has established his headquarters at Saur's large drug and book house. He has been very careful in selecting all nice and beautiful goods to place in this house, for the inspection of parents and children. The children have especially been remembered in the selection of very nice and beautiful books, which are full of little stories and mottoes, which are so necessary and well calculated in directing and shaping the destiny of every child who reads them. The quality of the life of every man and woman is largely due to the literature which they read in early life, and even the training which the parents give them is to a great extent directed by the literature which the parents read in their time. Good books in the family for children to read, are better and more valuable than bags of gold.

The rush has commenced at Washington for office, and at Humphrey's Drug and Book store for those beautiful holiday goods, but the stock is immense and the variety endless, and all can be served.
